WANTS DAMAGE MONEY OF VILLAGE

CIRCUIT COURT DETERMINES ORDINANCE INVALID

After Frederic Citizen is Found Guilty by Jury.

Growing out of a suit against Daniel McDermid, of Frederic, wherein he had been charged with a violation of the village ordinance relative to the licensing of vehicles for hire, etc., claims to the amount of $300 have been made upon our village council for alleged damages sustained.

The arrest of Mr. McDermid occurred during the week of the National Guard encampment in August by Night Watch M. Brenner.

The respondent was found guilty by a jury in Justice court. The case was appealed to Circuit court where Judge Sharpe determined that the ordinance was invalid owing to the fact that it had not been legally adopted by the village council.

Soon after the decision by Judge Sharpe, McDermid made demands upon President Hans Petersen for $150 as payment for the damages he claims to have sustained, stating, so Mr. Petersen says, that if they didn't pay it, it would cost them $500 or words similar in effect.

The following communication was received and read at the council meeting Monday night, and the village clerk ordered to refer same to the village attorney, Glen Smith.

Frederic, Mich., Oct. 30, 1915.
The Hon. President and Common Council of the village of Grayling, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

I have decided in view of the decision rendered by Judge Sharp in Circuit court on October 14th, 1915, that the ordinance on which your Hon. Body had me arrested on August 13th, 1915, for violation of same, is invalid and not enforceable. Therefore, in view of said decision, and the fact of me being arrested, tried and falsely imprisoned for violation of same, and being deprived of my liberty, humiliated and put to very considerable expense, and inconvenience, do now apply to your Hon. Body for damages sustained by me on account of said arrest, humiliation, imprisonment, inconvenience and expense; being satisfied when convicted in Justice court of the invalidity of aforesaid ordinance, that in order to protect my rights I was obliged to appeal against said conviction to a higher Court to wit: The Circuit Court of Crawford county, where my appeal was sustained.

In consideration of the foregoing, I must request your Hon. Body to pay me the sum of Three hundred dollars ($300.00) as damages sustained. Awaiting an early reply, I am, Yours respectfully,
DAN MCDERMID.

Frederic School Notes.

All the teachers are back from the institute held in Saginaw last week. With the new ideas obtained from the master teachers of the United States, now in their possession, they feel that they are well repaid for their trip.

The caste in the minstrel is waiting for more music ordered from Ohio. Katie Brown is the new organist in the eighth grade exercises.

As soon as our new basket ball arrives we will start playing.

From what Supt. Wood said to us in a talk Monday morning, Ex-President Taft has the idea that schools in general lack discipline. Taft however has not been to Frederic, where we pride ourselves along that line, except on Halloween.

Spelling and penmanship is required of everyone in the high school.

The eighth grade start the study of Edgar Allen this week.

The English class of the high school is committing to memory the great speech on Patriotism by McKinley.

Raymond Brown has entered school. Horatio Hunt is leaving school as his parents are moving to Bay City.

A literary society is being organized. It is planned to have a meeting every other week.

WILL PROPAGATE WILD LIFE AT GAME PRESERVE

Game Warden Department Plans Many Improvements.

State Game Commissioner W. R. Oates has plans for an extensive improvement in the State game preserve at the Military reservation. There is only one inlet to Portage lake and this is at the Game enclosure and at this place will be constructed ponds for the propagation of wild duck, beaver, fish and other wild life. Hungarian and Ring tail pheasants are among the specie of game birds that will be brought here. Under direction of A. J. Murphy, superintendent of property Refuge, wild rice and buck wheat, beds will be planted for feeding places. Mr. Murphy says that he will use his utmost endeavor to reduce the number of bird killing animals, such as mink, musk rats, weasels, coon and others, thus aiding in the increase of more desirable animals and birds. In company with J. P. McGilvray one of State foresters, and Deputy State Game Warden R. S. Babbitt, of this place, a trip was made to the reservation and several photographs made of some of the animals in the refuge. The white deer have become very tame. Thru a little maneuvering good pictures were taken of the three large elk; they are exceedingly shy but dangerous when approached too near.

Murphy is now assisting in the construction of a care-taker's house, which will be located adjoining the game enclosure near the rifle range. It is stated that the department will now construct at the outlet of the lake into Portage creek, a V shaped screen to prevent fish from going down stream. The point of the V will extend out into the lake with a small outlet to enable fish coming up the creek to enter the lake. Murphy is experienced in propagation of wild life and will devote his entire time to this and the care of the refuge.

GOODFELLOWSHIP CLUB BEGINS YEAR'S WORK.

Organized 1897 Has Accomplished Much Good.

The Goodfellowship club held their first meeting for the year Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George L. Alexander. The officers of the club are Mrs. Thorwald Hanson, Pres., and Mrs. Olaf Michelson, Sec., and Treas. The club has a specially fine program consisting of miscellaneous topics, for this year and the members are expecting to derive much of real worth and mutual benefit from the study of the various subjects.

The club was organized in Sept. 1897 with the following ladies as charter members: Jannette Woodworth, Julia Fournier, Alice E. Culver, Caroline Wright, Alice M. Benkelman, Margaret Tromble, Ida Evans, Bess Lantz, Bessie Michelson, and Mable C. Paterson, Miss Bessie Michelson being elected first president. During the eighteen years that the club has been in existence it has accomplished many things in a social and charitable way that have been enjoyed and appreciated by Grayling people. For two winters the club conducted a Lecture course, which brought to our city some splendid talent, which could not have been secured in any way except through a course of this kind.

In 1911 the ladies furnished a room at Mercy hospital which is known as the Goodfellowship room.

In 1912 there was raised by public subscription, $188 for the benefit of those less fortunate among us. This money was turned over to the club and food and clothing were purchased and divided among many families during Christmas week.

During these years there have been many changes in the club so that now, Miss Margaret Tromble is the only charter member who is still enjoying the benefit of the club. The present members are: Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. Bates, Mrs. Bauman, Miss Case, Mrs. T. W. Hanson, Mrs. Oscar Hanson, Mrs. Marius Hanson, Mrs. Insley, Mr. Jorgenson, Mrs. Michelson, Mrs. Tromble, Mrs. Worsbarn, with Mrs. Chas. Canfield and Mrs. Oscar Schumann acting as substitutes. We sincerely hope that the members of this club may enjoy as many blessings from their study this year as previous years.

Boy Scouts Hallowe'en Party.

L. C. Bungeard, instructor at the gymnasium and scout master gave a Hallowe'en party for the boy scouts last Saturday evening at the gymnasium. Commissioners Ellsworth, Bates and Zalsman were invited to see the work the boys were doing. The evening was spent in games, the commissioners acting as judges. One contest which caused much fun and laughter, was a tub filled with water, containing eleven apples and each of the boys took turns at getting the apples out of the water without using their hands, one member nearly strangled when he tried to get the first apple, while some dove in like ducks after them and others didn't care to try at all. Following is the record of the boys, who did the stunt in less than a minute: Herman Sorenson; 45 seconds, Basil Green, 50 seconds, Gordon Davidson and Carl Anderson 53 seconds. Next was a ball game called Long ball. Sides were chosen, one being called the Eagles and the other the Tigers, with Mr. Bungeard as umpire. It was a good game all the way thru, the Eagles winning by a score of 20 to 12. The boys then went to the reception rooms and prepared lunch and when all was ready, the commissioners were invited to the table, and were told to help themselves the same as the boy scouts. There were no knives, forks or spoons on the table. When it came time for eating their pumpkin pie, a contest was on to see who could eat their pie first with their hands behind them. Carl Anderson was the first to finish his pie and Howard Peterson was a close second, making almost a tie. The old scouts didn't seem to relish that way of eating. Mr. Zalsman got out his jack knife and did very well with his pie. Mr. Bates said he would have dove in but for his mustache, and Mr. Ellsworth after looking at the young scouts didn't care about eating it that way so also took out his jack knife. All ate up their pie and looked around for more. The coffee was fine, which showed that Boy scouts knew how to make it. Pencils and knives were used to stir it and the fruit, sandwiches, etc, went down the usual way. After luncheon, Mr. Bates challenged the old scouts to climb the ropes, but was beaten by Mr. Ellsworth, who climbed right to the top. Mr. Bates went about three quarters up, while Mr. Zalsman hardly got off the floor. In all it was a very pleasant evening for the scouts. More boys should join this organization and help go on with this grand work.

Concerning the Fashionable Fox Furs

Foxes will need all their cunning, and much more, if the demand for their pelts does not abate. Just now it seems that every girl wants to wear a red fox, or a white one, coiled about her neck, and a fox muff in which to embed her hands. She dines in airy gowns, but, having removed a coat, her graceful form is retained, not because the public dining room is cold but because her furs are becoming, and fashion allows her to wear them.

White fox is in demand on evening coats in collars and deep cuffs. Or very light colors and white coats employ fox fur dyed black. It is a long, soft and rich fur but not so durable as some others.

Red fox is especially becoming to auburn-haired, fair-skinned women, and when brown eyes are added to these the effect is so good that even the fox might be reconciled to his fate, could he foresee it.

One of these natural fox sets is shown in the picture. The scarf is held in place by fastening the claws together. In the muff the head is used, but tail and claws are omitted.

Fox fur is dyed into several colors, the very dark browns and blacks being favored by the majority of women. Certain species are very high priced, and will not be cheaper. The cross fox and pointed fox are rare; a single skin from the latter is worth several hundred dollars.

Modes in Hair Dressing.

The modes in hairdressing change quite as much as the modes in millinery or clothes. Indeed we have to keep modifying our coiffure to suit the ever-changing hat shapes. When the crowns are high we must needs wear our knots on top of our heads to fill in the high crowns. When the flat-crowned shape prevails it means that the hair must be stowed away around the nape of the neck somewhere.

But though hair style changes frequently, this does not mean that we must follow them blindly and obediently regardless of how they appear on us. There is nothing which so transfigures a girl's face as the right kind of coiffure.

Two Sorts of Crepe Blouses

A plain blouse and a dressy one, both of crepe, are pictured above. They are representative styles in blouses made of crepe, which are equally well liked for daily wear and for dress occasions. Crepe Georgette is chosen for the rich-looking waist with handsome lace vest and ermine bands, while crepe de chine makes the plainer blouse for ordinary service.

The plain blouse is set on to a yoke which is narrow at the back and terminates at the front, where it is brought over the shoulder. The shoulder seams are long and the sleeves plain and almost straight. They are set into a plain cuff with overlapping end. This end is prettily shaped into a point that is extended and decorated with a fine embroidered floral spray. A small buttonhole worked in the point fastens the cuff over a round button set on the underside.

The blouse fastens at the front with small ball buttons. These are usually white on light-colored crepe. On tans and grays they are generally made in bright contrasting colors.

The collar is cut high at the back and turns over in two points at the front, where the embroidered flower design reappears. Many of the latest blouses are cut with high collars and others are worn with high collars of batiste net or organdie.

In the dressier waist the sleeves are fuller and finished with a frill of fine net and a band of ermine. The front pieces are turned back, forming revers, and a vest and high collar of heavy silk lace are set in. Small jet buttons and a band of ermine about the neck at the back and sides give a brilliant finish.

The jet buttons repeat the note of black which appears in the points of the ermine, and the lace and fur convert the blouse into a rich-looking affair conveying an atmosphere of high style.

No Material Damage.

A husky Ethiopian came into a lawyer's office and, exhibiting a scalp wound about three inches long on top of his head, wanted to know if he could "git anything for dis heah." In response to a query from the lawyer he explained: "Well, boss it wuz like dis: Ah wuz working down by dis heah new buildin', an' a fo'-poun' brick fell off'n de sixteenth story an' hit me smack on top de heah." A grasping and heartless construction company, although admitting the facts and their liability, refused to pay more than $10, on the ground that the evidence failed to disclose any material damage.—Case and Comment.

FOOD FOR THE YOUNG CHILD.

There is great need that mothers study the feeding of the baby, as statistics tell us that a large proportion of little people die with no chance to fight their own way before they are two years old. To introduce solid foods into the diet of a child is a change worthy of thoughtful consideration. Children should be fed according to their weight, age and development. Solid foods should be introduced gradually after one year of age in a normal baby.

A cereal well cooked, an egg cooked and mixed with bread crumbs or milk, or gruel, making one meal a day. See that the baby feeds slowly and masticates well. Habits of right eating may be formed now which will go with him through life. Fresh bread should never be given. Cut in squares and baked until brown, then served in milk is a good dish and one children like. Add a pinch of salt but no sugar to such dishes. Milk and cream should be used plentifully.

An hour before or an hour after feeding a tablespoonful or two of orange juice, pineapple juice, strained apple sauce or mashed pulp of prunes may be given.

Vegetables are now a necessity. Potatoes thoroughly baked, and served with butter or cream. Asparagus tips, spinach and carrots crushed fine and well seasoned with salt and butter.

Only one vegetable daily until the age of two is reached. Meats should be given but sparingly; a tablespoonful of scraped rare beef may be mixed with the baby's potato or a bit of beefsteak gravy may be put on it. Up to three years but little meat is given, and it should always be finely cut.

Broths of mutton, chicken or beef with rice or stale crumbs, or beef juice may be given, five ounces at a meal; beef juice being more concentrated, three ounces is sufficient.

Cereals of oatmeal, farina, barley, hominy, rice or cracked wheat, four ounces, but it should be long and well cooked. Serve with a pinch of salt and plenty of milk and cream.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE TABLE.

A most delightful autumn dainty is baked pears. Wash and peel the pears and lay them in a baking dish, cover with water, butter and lemon juice, using the mixture to baste them during the baking. Serve when brown and tender. As a vegetable to serve with meats or as a dessert with whipped cream there could be nothing more tasty.

Stuffed Pears.—Take firm pears and remove cores. Steam until tender, then fill the centers with whipped cream, mixed with chopped dates, candied cherries or nuts.

Pear Salad.—Peel nice, ripe pears cut in halves, remove the core, then roll in chopped nuts, lay flat-side down on head lettuce, place a large spoonful of mayonnaise at the side and serve well chilled with toasted cheese crackers.

Stuffed Green Peppers.—Cut the stem ends from six green peppers, remove white fiber and seeds, scald five minutes and drain. Mix one cupful of bread crumbs with three tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one cupful of tuna fish, salt, a dash of lemon juice and stock to moisten slightly. Fill the peppers, place in a buttered pan with half a cupful of hot water to bake slowly half an hour. Serve with a cream sauce and triangles of buttered toast.

Creamed Oysters.—Take three dozen oysters, parboil in their own liquor until they rattle, then drain. Place a cupful of cream and a half cupful of milk in a double boiler. When the mixture is hot add a tablespoonful of butter and two of flour, well mixed, season with salt and pepper; cook until thick. Fill ramekins with this mixture and the oysters; cover with a piece of two of hard cooked egg and a spoonful of buttered crumbs. Brown in the oven. The egg may be used as a garnish on top of the browned crumbs just as it goes to the table, with a bit of parsley as a finish.

Stale Bits of Bread may be used as crumbs for various dishes, as croquettes, as bread puddings with fruit or custard, as filling with nuts for peppers, or baked potatoes; in fact in thousands of ways bits of bread may be utilized. Not a crumb should be wasted, even the crumb tray should be emptied for the little shreds.

Orange peel and lemon peel may be used to flavor sauces, removing the peeling before serving.

If there no longer existed women sufficiently dignified in their manners to inspire real respect, the opinion of society would no longer have any influence over the actions of men.—Madame De Staël.

APPETIZING FISH DISHES.

Canned fish now is such a plentiful article on the market that when fresh fish is not obtainable the tinned variety will answer fully as well. Tuna or tunny fish is one of the most delicious of canned fish and may be served right from the can with quarters of lemon or combined in various ways to serve as salad. Filled tomatoes, stuffed with tuna, well seasoned, celery and cabbage makes a most tasty salad.

Herring Salad.—Cook salt herring 15 minutes in boiling water to cover. Drain and cool and separate into flakes. Add an equal quantity of cubes of cooked potatoes, a half cupful of chopped celery, the whites of two eggs, chopped, and a good boiled dressing. Cover with hard-cooked egg yolk put through a ricer.

Salmon Loaf With Peas.—Season a can of salmon, add a beaten egg, a tablespoonful of lemon juice and a cupful of thick, white sauce. Steam in a loaf and serve garnished with cooked peas on a platter.

Creamed Finnan Haddie.—Cook half a tablespoonful of green onion, one tablespoonful of green pepper (both chopped), with a fourth of a cupful of butter, five minutes, stirring constantly. Add four tablespoonfuls of flour, mixed with a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of cayenne and half a teaspoonful of paprika. Then pour on gradually one cupful each of milk and cream. Bring to the boiling point and cook two minutes. Reserve half a cupful of this sauce and to the remainder add 1½ cupfuls of flaked finnan haddie, when hot fill the center of a rice boiler with the finnan haddie and pour around the reserved sauce. Garnish with canned pimiento.

Salmon croquettes molded around a teaspoonful of cooked green peas and served hot with a highly seasoned sauce make another tasty dish.

Salt mackerel is delicious soaked overnight or until well freshened then placed in the oven covered with a good cupful of thick cream and allowed to bake 20 minutes. Add salt if needed, just as it is taken up.

DO NOT SLIGHT LEFTOVERS.

Take any bits of leftover meat, put through a meat chopper, season and mix with eggs, and form into cutlets, place half an almond cut lengthwise at the small end to represent the cutlet bone. Dip in egg and fry. Place a cauliflower in the center of the dish and pile the cutlets around and serve. Serve with a meat sauce.

A small piece of cheese, if grated, will add flavor to any number of dishes. It is good in escalloped potato, in escalloped cabbage, adds to the flavor of milk toast and may be sprinkled over lettuce which has been dressed with French dressing. A little grated cheese added to an omelette is an improvement.

A dainty cracker to serve with a salad course is prepared by heating grated cheese on the crackers, sprinkle with salt and cayenne and then toasting in the oven.

Sour cream makes a delicious filling for cakes; add brown sugar and cook until it is hard, add nuts and beat until smooth.

Sour cream dressing, using cream, salt and a dash of cayenne served on young green onions is a dish not half well enough known.

A tablespoonful of leftover peas with a few cold potatoes will make a most appetizing salad to serve for Sunday night supper.

Stale bits of bread may be used as crumbs for various dishes, as croquettes, as bread puddings with fruit or custard, as filling with nuts for peppers, or baked potatoes; in fact in thousands of ways bits of bread may be utilized. Not a crumb should be wasted, even the crumb tray should be emptied for the little shreds.

Orange peel and lemon peel may be used to flavor sauces, removing the peeling before serving.

Eat Plenty of Fruit.

For its appetizing values fruit should be eaten before meals. It taken as a dessert at the end of the meal fruit has its best effect from the nutritive standpoint. For its laxative properties fruit should be taken on an empty stomach, preferably soon after rising in the morning.

The Army of Heaven

By REV. L. W. GOSNELL
Superintendent at Mt. Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

TEXT—God's host.—Gen. 22:2.

The angels compose the army of heaven. The captain of this host of the Lord is no other than Jesus Christ, and it was he, we think, who appeared as the angel of the Lord in the Old Testament. The multitude of those who bow to his command is suggested by the fact that in the garden of Gethsemane he might have called for twelve legions of angels and they would have been given him; they are said to number ten thousand times ten thousand and thousands of thousands.

We would speak of two instances especially in which this shining host has figured. The first has to do with the story of Jacob. He was on his way back from Haran after an exile of twenty years. Thoughts of meeting Esau on the morrow troubled him, for he was learning that "sins come home to roost." How beautiful to read, "And Jacob went on his way and the angels of God met him. And when Jacob saw them, he said, This is God's host: and he called the name of the place Mahanaim." I. e., two hosts. The idea which he expresses is this: that while about him is his little encampment, all unprepared to meet Esau and his four hundred men of war, yet above him is God's army for his defense.

The other instance is referred to in the Thirty-fourth Psalm: "The angel of the Lord encampeth around about them that fear him, and delivereth them." This Psalm seems to have been written when David was fleeing from Saul. The night would bring its terrors for the little company which was with him, but his faith saw the mountains full of God's chariots, and expressed itself in the words we have quoted. It will be noted that he refers to the angel of the Lord who is at the head of the heavenly army, but his words include the vast multitude which camps about the saint.

In this age the question may be raised as to whether such a truth has any importance for us; indeed some may even feel that to speak of angels puts a barrier between us and God. But if we will understand that these are simply his messengers fulfilling the voice of his word, the difficulty vanishes. We have in mind a couple of incidents which show that this truth may become of vital concern in times of danger.

For example, the biographer of Mrs. John Scudder, wife of the famous missionary to India, tells of a most interesting experience in her life. With her children she was being carried through the jungle by native bearers. The tent had been pitched for the night and this frail woman with her babes was looking to her servants for protection; but as twilight deepened, the roar of lions and tigers began sounding through the jungle and struck terror into the hearts of the men. One after another took to flight, leaving this woman and her children alone among the wild beasts. She prayed to God for protection and it was granted her. That her danger was real is shown by the fact that she heard the lions and tigers sniffing about her tent in the night; and yet no paw was raised against her, and when the morning dawned her children were sleeping in peace and safety. Her biographer suggests an explanation which is worthy of attention. He says: "There was an inner circle; for the angel of the Lord encampeth around about them that fear him and delivereth them."

Again this subject is suggested in the last entry found in the journal of that Christian soldier, Chinese Gordon. As is well known, he lost his life in the siege of Khartum. The reinforcements came all too late, but nevertheless the faith of this man did not fail. He says in his closing entry, "The hosts are with us—Mahanaim." It is Jacob's old word, and shows that the faith of this Christian hero realized that God had sent him his angels. It is true that Gordon lost his life, but he could lay it down in the confidence that it was not because God had left him without protection, but that in the wisdom of his heavenly Father his death was permitted.

Man's Will is All His Own.

True education lies in learning to wish things to be as they actually are; it lies in learning to distinguish what is our own from what does not belong to us. But there is only one thing which is fully our own—that is our will or purpose. God, acting as a good king and a true father, has given us a will which cannot be restrained, compelled or thwarted; he has put it wholly in our power. . . . Nothing can ever force us to act against our will. If we are conquered, it is because we have willed to be conquered.—Epictetus.

Vast Consequences.

There are purposes which God himself cannot fulfill on earth except through you, and every sin of yours is a barrier set in God's way. To be sinning, not against yourself, but against the universe; in the petty yielding to your own indolence or neglect, to be a hinderer of God's great ends in the world—that is what gives awfulness to every thought of sin. To injure, blot, ruin yourself—that may be a small matter, but to hold back the vast mechanism of creation—that gives your little life significance.—Francis G. Penbody.

GETTING A START

By
NATHANIEL C. FOWLER, Jr.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

THE SOCIAL LIFE OF BUSINESS.

Business, while often hard and even cruel, does not refuse to consider the human side of life.

Thousands of captains of industries and merchant princes recognize the needs of man as well as those of trade, and encourage many forms of social intercourse among their employees, including the establishment of libraries, reading rooms, gymnasiums, and the organization of athletic and other societies.

Exhaustive experiment has shown that healthy social life can be added to business without detriment to financial profit, and that the more employees get together, play together as well as work together, the more efficient they are likely to be.

Workers of the same grade naturally have much in common, and there is no reason why they should not enjoy one another's company in business and out of it, why they should not have a common business interest and a social acquaintanceship and friendship.

Of course, business must be attended to, and any social life which interferes with the conduct of business cannot very well be tolerated, but there are forms of sociability which the well-regulated store or factory should recognize, and many of them do.

Fellow employees should be friends as well as business associates. They should enjoy one another's company at work as well as out of hours.

A hearty "Good morning," an exchange of smiles, a pleasant joke, a kind word, even during the heat of business, helps to bring the strenu-ousness of work to a livable level and assists rather than retards the action of business.

Get acquainted with your fellow clerks. Know something of their personal life, as well as of their business.
Organize ball teams, associations for business and social betterment. Connect with the employees of similar institutions. Intermingle and interchange.

The greatest business men in the world are members of boards of trade, chambers of commerce, and other organizations. They lunch together unafraid of competition. Their principles should be emulated by the employees, who, collectively, are as strong a factor in success as are those who command them.

Let your wife come into this social and business life, if she will.
Do not draw too sharp a line between business and family.

Pass along the good things you have to others, and they will reciprocate.
The more you get together, the greater will be your accomplishment.
Remember that you alone amount to very little, that you as a part of the composite mass may hold great responsibility.

The successful man is not a hermit.
He circulates rather than hoards. He shakes hands with his competitors.
He exchanges experiences with those of similar callings. He has a normal social life, the kind that does not interfere with his business. He renders unto business all that business deserves, and does not forget there is something besides business, something which, if properly handled, will push rather than handicap trade.

Don't live by yourself. Get away from yourself. Get together.

"THE OTHER FELLOW."

Ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent of failures, men of the never-get-there class, intentionally or unintentionally, forget themselves and think about
"the other fellow."

If this other fellow is promoted, they are jealous. They feel that their employer has discriminated unfairly, and that favoritism or luck is responsible for the good things which he has received.

If they make a mistake, instead of attempting to learn better, they hunt up the mistakes "the other fellow" has made and excuse themselves because he has blundered.

Many a young man, who has not been promoted or received a raise of salary, instead of analyzing himself, goes to his employer and says, "You raised Smith's salary, I think mine ought to be raised too."

The employer naturally asks him what Smith has got to do with it.
Smith had his salary raised because he deserved it. Yet a proportion of men, who ought to know better, use this feeble and unbusinesslike argument.

DID AWAY WITH THE MIXUP

Post Office Authorities Surely Acted Wisely in Changing Seriously Conflicting Names.

Near Juneau, Alaska, there is a prosperous mining town called Sheep Creek, while at the head of Cook Inlet there has been for a number of years an insignificant and practically unknown place, a mining village known as Ship Creek. In anticipation of the boom caused by the proposed new government railroad last year Ship Creek began to receive a great deal of freight from various vessels plying from Seattle to Cook Inlet, and the similarity between the names of the two settlements caused considerable confusion. Sheep Creek received several shipments of freight intended for Ship Creek.

Because of this state of affairs the Alaskan railroad commission, as well as the needs of transshiping companies, promptly had Ship Creek changed to Ship Creek. The matter was formally placed before the national geographic board, which has sole jurisdiction in passing on geographic names. Early in last November the name was changed, and the coast and geologic survey was notified. The new name applied not only to the creek itself but to the settlement which had sprung up.

Since that time the post office department has given the name of Anchorage to the post office at Woodrow Creek.

The national geographic board is the only organization which has the right to change the name of a town, river or mountain, but the post office department reserves the right to change the name of a post office.

Development of Human Jaw.
The bony structure of prehistoric human jaws was of astonishing mas-siveness and strength. They were buttressed, as if to withstand terrific violence. But when chins began to be worn, nature was obliged to furnish pads for them—to which circumstance Doctor Robinson attributes the origin of the fleshy covering that adorns this part of the face today, beautifying its contour.

No business man worthy the name wants to have inefficient employees about him. They injure his business and injure him. The modern business man requires efficiency, and in most cases he is ready to pay the price necessary to obtain it.

Ninety-nine per cent of young men who are down, are down because they downed themselves and did not realize that, however subordinate their positions might be, they, above all the world, were masters of their destiny.

It is you, not "the other fellow."

Child's Narrow Escape.

Snake stories so frequently degenerate into mere fabrications that a serious chronicler hesitates to tell of an incident such as that which W. F.
Beyer, lighthouse engineer, witnessed on the Sirio river, near Panama. The river had been swollen by the first heavy rains and at its junction with the Trinidad was very swift. Five men and a child came down to the ford at Lagartera and prepared to get into a cayuco for crossing. The river looked so treacherous, however, that they decided to make the crossing in parties of three.

One man, the child, a boy of four years, and the padre man got into the canoe and put off. The first eddy caught them when they were only 25 feet from shore and upset their boat. As they struck the water a huge box dropped from a limb overhanging the water, coiled itself around the child and started for shore.
It glided up the steep bank and for the jungle. The child's body caught between two stalks of bamboo and while the snake was trying to pull itself through the man on the bank ran up and killed it. Two brilliant welts around the body of the child are the only injury he sustained.

Gatun lake now covers an area of about fifty square miles. At its final height of 85 feet, which it will attain about Nov. 1, it will cover 164 square miles.

Leave it to a Woman!

ANURIC!

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalid's
Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Dr. Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that there is no other eliminator of uric acid that can be compared to it. For these easily recognized symptoms of inflammation—as backache, scalding urine and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, it is simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best of results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, and invariably the pains and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

Go to your nearest drug store and simply ask for a 50-cent package of "Anuric" manufactured by Dr. Pierce or even write Dr. Pierce for a large trial package (10c). If you suspect kidney or bladder trouble, send him a sample of your water and describe symptoms. Dr. Pierce's chemist will examine it, then Dr. Pierce will report to you without fee or charge.

NOTE—"Anuric" is thirty-seven times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid, and is a harmless but reliable chemical compound that may be safely given to children, but should be used only by grown-ups who actually wish to restore their kidneys to perfect health, by conscientiously using one box—or more in extreme cases—"Anuric" (thanks to Doctor Pierce's achievement) is by far the most perfect kidney and bladder cor-rector obtainable.

GRAYLING, THURSDAY, NOV. 4

Four hundred and fifty million Chinese tremble at the menace of seventy million Japanese—a giant helpless at the feet of a pigmy. Japan has a magnificent army of sea-land and air, equipped with modern guns and munitions of war, while China is without the means of self defense—just like Uncle Sam.

Let's make it America first, last, all the time, and then some.

About the only noticeable difference between being in moderate circumstances and being poor is that in the former case the things you want but can't afford are a little more expensive.

One of the first things some of the men who talk about going back to the farm would do, if they ever got there, would be to ask for the button that starts the plow across the daisy-scented field.

The children, especially the babies, should not be forgotten in this hot weather, which means suffering and often death to so many of them. Now is the time for practical charity to show its real worth.

The advice to walk or push something, if one wants to live long after forty, will prove unlucky for the suburbanite. In addition to the exercise of catching trains, he will be more a slave than ever to the lawn mower.
